What is Mentoring?

The concept of mentoring is no longer tailored to tall, hierarchical organizations. Mentoring is now seen as a process whereby mentor and mentee work together to discover and develop the mentee's talents.

The Program

- Provides a method of introducing and encouraging experienced librarians and other library personnel to work together
- Networking
- Offers experienced librarians and library personnel the opportunity to assist mentees in their library careers
- Help mentees learn about library organizations
- Introduces different aspects of the SELA organization and how it functions
- Creates an outstanding environment for new learning experiences
- Learning from others to improve skills in the library
- An investment in yourself
- Once a mentee is selected, contact information will be given only to the mentor to facilitate the introductory process
- Program detail available through the website in the mentoring handbook

Definition:
A SELA mentee or person being mentored is either a new librarian, an experienced librarian, a library science student or a library paraprofessional, seeking professional advice and guidance from an experienced librarian or library personnel in order to achieve success in his/her new position or profession.

Qualifications:
1. A SELA Member
2. A library science student, a new or experienced professional librarian, or a library paraprofessional
3. Minimum commitment of 1 year to this program*
4. Willingness to communicate with the mentor as often as necessary, at least 4-6 times during the year

Benefits:
1. Practice problem solving and listening skills
2. Meet colleagues with varied experiences, skills, and contact
3. Learn what SELA has to offer
4. Networking with others in your field from various places
5. Become a future mentor for either new professionals or paraprofessionals

*If both mentee and mentor agree, the mentoring process would be extended to a second year.

Mentee

Definition:
A SELA mentor is an experienced person who willingly provides professional and useful advice to a new or experienced librarian, library science students or library paraprofessional in order for him/her to achieve success in his/her new position or profession.
